

Did you find any aspects difficult or challenging?

Everything with horses is difficult, there is not one non difficult thing about it, it is a technical sport, it works your mind, body, and bank account like nothing else. Even going into the show ring and having the best round takes so much preparation, hard work, and strategic thinking. The most difficult part of my ELO was working with Jimmy. With his past trauma, special requests, and every unpredictable completely dangerous action he does All. The. Time. It was like I was playing with a death wish. He is confusing, and completely threatening animal, but when he is on top of it and at his best, there is no better feeling in the world. I have jumped my highest jumps on him. He has brought me confidence and multiple mental breakdowns and too many vet visits. He is difficult and angering but you always have to remember it's never his fault.
