

Final project for Creative Writing and Imagery

I am giving you this project today because I want you to keep the end goal in mind from day 1. You will be creating (and presenting) a multi-genre writing project over the course of the semester and you will conclude the semester with a presentation of the work you have made and what you have learned. This will include your final summative pieces for each unit, but you will also need to create two new pieces of writing from any of these genres. (You can also include a genre we didn't study if you want, but that will require extra work on your part when it comes time for your final reflection).

This project can be done as a typed, printed and bound booklet, or it can be done online through Google Docs or Google slides, or it can be done in a large poster presentations. Just remember that all 10 pieces of writing must be accessible by people attending the presentation.

Once each written piece is done, you will write a 1-page reflection for the piece which includes the following:

- A brief description explaining the genre of writing it represents
 - o What some of the indicators that it falls under that genre
 - o What the challenges of writing that genre were for you personally
- An explanation of why you chose the pictures that you chose to include with each piece
 - o How do those photos complement the writing
- Why you chose the topic you chose for each piece of writing
- A conclusion which explains what you learned about the genre of writing and what questions you might still have about it
